

Important Dates:

May 17: Banana Split Night

May 18: Monthly dress down day for $1.00

May 28: No School

June 5: Last day of school 11:30 dismissal

Religion:

This past week, students learned about the unforgiving servant. This parable teaches us that forgiveness involves true repentance in learning to forgive others like God forgives us.

Unit 17 Words:

Approximate,
construct, crude,
decline, distinct,
evident, impulse,
interpret, orient,
sector, submit, zest

May 11, 2018

This week has been full of many exciting and interesting events. We have been testing and designing our Jet Toys, wrapping up our unit on the Southwestern Region of the United States, and worked in teams to create games for our novel study. The students were working hard to tap into their creativity! I am looking forward to the adventures the next few weeks will bring!

Have a wonderful weekend, and a Blessed Mother's Day!

Mrs. Nies

Reading/Language Arts: In Reading, we created and played games from the story: My Life as a Book.

In Language Arts, students identified, formed, and used past, present and future perfect verbs.

Math: We have been writing equivalent fractions, finding common factors, greatest common factors, and writing fractions in lowest terms.

Social Studies: In Social Studies, we wrapped up chapter 9: The Southwest. We will have our test next Wednesday.

Science: In Science, we began our STEM project. During this Jet Toy project, your child will have an opportunity to work as an engineer to create, test, and design a balloon powered toy car out of recycled materials. This group project will take the place of our regular science classes for the remainder of the school year.

